

MFS Heritage Planning®

Helping Yourself. Helping Your Parents. Helping Your Children.®

Courtesy of: Gerald Quigley, ChFC

Quigley Associates, Inc. 1246 Route 46 West, Parsippany, NJ 07046

973-257-7227

www.gtqfinancials.com

FINANCIAL BASICS

Budget planning

- Retirement accounts may be a good place to consider putting any surplus income.
- It is a good idea to review your budget once a year and see if you need to make any significant changes.

This material should be used as helpful hints only. Each person's situation is different. You should consult your investment professional or other relevant professional before making any decisions.

CREATING A HOUSEHOLD BUDGET

Statistics tell us that the leading cause of household stress is money. Yet many people do not have a system for knowing where their money goes once it comes in the door.

Keeping track of spending — so you can understand your habits and spend more wisely — is an important reason for creating a household budget.

This infosheet can be a starting place for those creating a household budget for the first time and is intended to provide helpful hints. It is based on the same principles as many popular personal finance programs. Therefore, following these guidelines should be a complement to any interactive budgeting program you may want to use.

Budgeting basics

- Know what you earn.
- Know where you spend it.
- Separate essential from nonessential expenses.
- Calculate the difference between what you earn and what you spend.
- Get your spending in line with your earnings.

After you collect the information suggested here, you may use a ledger, spreadsheet or personal finance program to create your budget.

Know what you earn

List your take-home income. Any income that you could reasonably expect to earn in the current year should be included. Most often this includes salary, rental income, investment income, tips, pensions, royalties and child support payments. Gifts or bonuses may be included, but only if you are certain you will receive them in the coming year.

Key points

- Most financial experts recommend that you set aside an emergency fund with enough money to cover six months of expenses in case you are disabled or laid off.
- You do not have to create an emergency fund all at once or panic if you do not have one in place. But you could designate an account that will serve as an emergency fund and begin to put money in it. Even if you only add $10 per month, it is a good way to start.

continued from page 1

Make sure you deduct all applicable taxes and prepaycheck contributions so your income total represents money you actually have to spend.

Know where you spend it

Create a monthly list of your expenses. Start with your essentials — shelter, food, clothing — and then move on to nonessential expenses.

Hint: Credit card bills and bank statements are great places to start creating a budget, especially if you use these cards predictably.

For example, if you use a debit card every time you shop for groceries, this will appear as a separate line item on your bank statements, so it is easy to keep track. Since most people shop for the same types of items at the same stores, you can organize your budget the same way.

If you buy groceries at Food Mart, beauty supplies at Beauty Mart and visit Wholesale Mart once per month for items that you buy in bulk, these can all be line items on your budget.

Hint: Record all of your expenses as a monthly amount.

You may need to divide annual expenses (such as property taxes) by 12 or spread quarterly payments out over a year. The following list is a suggested starting point for categorizing your expenses.

This list offers you a way to organize an overall household budget

Housing

- Mortgage payment
- Rent payment
- Line-of-credit payments
- Other home loan payments
- Home/Rental insurance
- Real estate taxes (if paid separately from your mortgage)
- Condo fees
- Home improvement expenses
- Landscaping expenses
- Other municipal fees or expenses (landscaping, trash removal, etc.)
- Home decorating expenses

Utilities

- Electricity
- Heating
- Water/Sewer
- Telephone
- Cell phone
- Internet access
- Long-distance telephone
- Cable TV

Household consumables

- Groceries
- Takeout food
- Health products and medicines
- Cleaning products
- Beauty aids
- Dry cleaning

Transportation

- Car payments
- Car insurance
- Car maintenance
- Gas
- Rental cars
- Public transportation
- Commuting costs
- Predictable travel expenses (for annual family trips, vacations, etc.)

Essentials

- Health care expenses
- Pension contributions
- Savings contributions
- Mutual fund account contributions
- Investment account contributions
- Emergency fund (See first page for information on keeping an emergency fund.)

continued from page 2

Entertainment

Dinners out
 Club memberships
 Movie and theater tickets
 Video rentals/streaming
 Tickets to sporting events
 Vacation expenses

Child care

Daycare
 Tuition
 Music lessons
 Babysitters
 Birthday party gifts
 Student loans
 School pictures
 School activity fees
 College savings accounts

Other

Charitable donations
 Gift expenses for

- birthdays
- holidays
- graduations
- showers, weddings, etc.

 Hair care
 Hobby expenses

Separate essential from nonessential expenses

Before you compare your income with your expenses, use a highlighter and quickly separate your list into items you consider essential and those you consider nonessential. This quick step will be helpful when you are looking for places to trim expenses.

Calculate the difference between what you earn and what you spend

Add up your monthly expenses and compare them with your monthly income.

Get your spending in line with your earnings

After you have added up your monthly expenses and compared them with your monthly income, you will be left with two possible courses of action, depending on the results.

If your expenses are greater than your income, it is time to get serious. Next to the column in which you recorded last year's expenses, make a new column for your current year budget. Those costs that cannot be changed should be written in the new column as is. (Of course, if you pay real estate taxes with your mortgage and those taxes are expected to increase, you should try to reflect this increase.)

Then you may want to take a serious look at those items that you decided were nonessential to see where you can make cuts. The goal is to create a realistic idea of how you can get expenses in line with your income.

If your expenses are less than your income, you may want to consider as options an emergency fund, investments, retirement accounts and college planning accounts. You may want to look at nonessential items and cut where you can to provide for these other accounts. You may also want to build in an inflationary increase in certain items.

Unless otherwise indicated, logos and product and service names are trademarks of MFS® and its affiliates and may be registered in certain countries.

Issued in the United States by MFS Institutional Advisors, Inc. ("MFSI") and MFS Investment Management. Issued in Canada by MFS Investment Management Canada Limited. No securities commission or similar regulatory authority in Canada has reviewed this communication. Issued in the United Kingdom by MFS International (U.K.) Limited ("MIL UK"), a private limited company registered in England and Wales with the company number 03062718, and authorized and regulated in the conduct of investment business by the U.K. Financial Conduct Authority. MIL UK, an indirect subsidiary of MFS, has its registered office at One Carter Lane, London, EC4V 5ER UK and provides products and investment services to institutional investors globally. This material shall not be circulated or distributed to any person other than to professional investors (as permitted by local regulations) and should not be relied upon or distributed to persons where such reliance or distribution would be contrary to local regulation. Issued in Hong Kong by MFS International (Hong Kong) Limited ("MIL HK"), a private limited company licensed and regulated by the Hong Kong Securities and Futures Commission (the "SFC"). MIL HK is a wholly-owned, indirect subsidiary of Massachusetts Financial Services Company, a U.S.-based investment advisor and fund sponsor registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. MIL HK is approved to engage in dealing in securities and asset management-regulated activities and may provide certain investment services to "professional investors" as defined in the Securities and Futures Ordinance ("SFO"). Issued in Singapore by MFS International Singapore Pte. Ltd., a private limited company registered in Singapore with the company number 201228809M, and further licensed and regulated by the Monetary Authority of Singapore. Issued in Latin America by MFS International Ltd. For investors in Australia: MFSI and MIL UK are exempt from the requirement to hold an Australian financial services license under the Corporations Act 2001 in respect of the financial services they provide. In Australia and New Zealand: MFSI is regulated by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission under U.S. laws, and MIL UK is regulated by the U.K. Financial Conduct Authority under U.K. laws, which differ from Australian and New Zealand laws.